Building on the success of 2024's Writer's Way Series I, this year, we're thrilled to be offering you Writer's Way II, a continuation of the series. It's a brand new set of stimulating workshops designed to offer aspiring and experienced writers the opportunity to enhance their skills and know-how on a variety of topics.

The online and in-person workshops will feature a wide range of guest facilitators—accomplished writers and industry professionals—covering topics such as how to sell your writing without cringing, flash, memoir, theatre-crafts, poetry and more.

We're launching our new series in August through to November 2025. Please see the programme offerings below. Click on the links that interest you for more details on the topic, information about the person leading the workshop and the details of where, when and cost of each event. Pricing is on a sliding scale to enable participants to choose a fee that suits their budget best.

Booking for the event is confirmed once your payment is received. For any further queries, please contact Pumza at admin@liferighting.com.
